Applied Mathematics and Nonlinear Sciences (AMNS) provides a forum for the rapid publication of original research in this field. The journal's scope encompasses all nonlinear dynamic phenomena associated with mechanical, structural, civil, aeronautical, oceanography, electrical, and control systems.

The scope of this journal covers but is not limited to: numerical analysis, numerical algebra, numerical methods for ODE, PDE, FDE, computational geometry, computational fluid dynamics, computational optimisation, computational probability, statistical computation and simulation, computational intelligence, computational complexity, theoretical computer science, computational physics, computational biology, dynamical systems, mathematical analysis, topology and its applications, nonlinear methods and its applications, related applications in physics, engineering, chemistry, economics and the social sciences.

AMNS is dedicated to the publication of the highest quality short papers, regular papers, and expository papers. The journal considers only original and timely contributions containing new results in various fields of Applied Mathematics and Nonlinear Sciences. AMNS does not apply any publication charge and that it is an Open Access Journal.

Author benefits:

- ▶ We particularly welcome papers in the fields of celestial mechanics, mathematical physics, high-energy astrophysics, astrophysical studies of the interstellar medium, planetary and space science.
- ▶ Review articles and original contributions are based on analytical, computational, and experimental methods.
- ▶ Applied Mathematics and Nonlinear Sciences (AMNS) is dedicated to the publication of the highest quality short papers, regular papers, and expository papers.

Journal owner:

UP4, Institute of Sciences, S.L. is a company devoted to the publication of scientific research journals, research manuscripts, scientific books and all type of documents potentially useful for the Scientific Research Community. The organization of high level international scientific conferences and workshops is another service offered by the company as well as an expert service advice in order to help authors to publish their works in indexed international scientific journals.
