EDITORIAL POLICY

The Romanian Journal of Psychoanalysis (RJP) is a scientific publication having as object psychoanalysis as a theory, as a method of treatment, as means of knowing the psyche, the human mind and its products.

RJP has two issues per year (June and December), publishing original psychoanalytical contributions of authors from all over the world. All articles are assigned a DOI number.

RJP only receives original articles for publication (in electronic form, in English) about any psychoanalytic theme.

RJP publishes:
- original articles
- psychoanalytic literature reviews
- case reports
- debates/correspondences
- book and film essays (Reviews)

The articles are to be sent to the editorial board of the RJP (Romanian Journal of Psychoanalysis) by email (revista@srdp.ro) and a confirmation will be sent after receiving the manuscript.

Please also see our Guidelines for Authors.

All newly submitted research articles are initially reviewed by the editorial board to determine whether they should be sent out for peer review or rejected without review. To maintain high standards of academic rigour all articles published in RJP undergo double blind peer review, where both the reviewer and the author remain anonymous throughout the process.

Articles selected for peer review are assigned to an Associate Editor who sends them to at least one (but usually two) external reviewers selected from our database of experts in the field. Once the reviews have been received the editorial board makes a decision to accept or reject a manuscript, or to request revisions from the author with respect to the reviewers’ comments.

This revision does not guarantee the revised paper will ultimately be accepted and editors may request more than one revision of a manuscript.
