

Editorial Policy: Journal of Ethnology and Folkloristics

Journal of Ethnology and Folkloristics is a peer-reviewed journal. Submitted research articles will be read by two anonymous referees. Each paper should include a self-contained abstract in English of a maximum of 150 words, summarizing the article's main points plus 5 keywords. The first page should contain the name, affiliation and address of each author.

JEF is issued two times per year, both in print format and online. The journal provides immediate open access to its content on the principle that making research freely available to the public supports a greater global exchange of knowledge.

JEF has neither article submission nor article processing charges.