Editorial policy

Bulletin plays the role of the leading professional journal in Slovenia in all three areas – economics, organization and informatics in healthcare field more than 20 years of publishing. Wide users coverage in most of the healthcare organizations sets the basis for the thorough presentation of the national findings, whereas articles that compare our national healthcare system with those from the other countries offer insight into the happenings in the wider EU healthcare area.

The thematics of the chapters and the articles as well as the structure of the editorial board, comprised of the professionals from the fields of economics and natural sciences ensure and promote the measurability, consistency and provability of researches and articles.