AUTHORSHIP STATEMENT

Manuscript title:

Corresponding author (first name, last name):

Please note that each contributing author must sign this Authorship statement using an original signature. Please note that copied and pasted ‘graphics’ of signatures are NOT acceptable because of the possibility of fraud. Otherwise the manuscript cannot be accepted for review.

Please fill in the table below with the following information:

- List the names of the authors in the order in which they appear in the manuscript. In this way, each author is assigned a number for further identification (unique author’s number).
- Each author should sign this form (in the table). By signing this form, authors take full responsibility for all statements made in the manuscript (ICMJE authorship criterion 4).

AUTHORSHIP STATEMENT:

Following International Committee of Medical Journal Editors (ICMJE) guidelines (see Guide for Authors, section 1.3.2)

The Authorship statement should be signed by each author. In cases where obtaining a signature from each author would unduly delay publication, the corresponding author's signature is sufficient provided that the corresponding author understands that he or she signs on behalf of the other authors who have not signed the form. If it is not possible to obtain the signature of a particular author (owing to death, loss of contact, or other reasons), the corresponding author should explain the circumstances in each instance.

The Editors of Asian Biomedicine expect each author to have: (1) made an important contribution to the conception and design, acquisition of data, or analysis and interpretation of data in the study; (2) drafted or revised the manuscript critically for intellectual content; and (3) approved the final version of the submitted manuscript. Those who meet all three criteria should be included as authors. Those who do not meet all three criteria should not be included as authors. The Editors also expect each author to (criterion 4) (1) take responsibility for at least one component of the work; (2) have access to the raw data and figure files for their component of the work; (3) be able to identify who is responsible for each other component; and (4) be confident in their coauthors' ability and integrity. One author, usually the corresponding author, must be thoroughly familiar with the original data for the entire study and be responsible for the integrity of the entire work. If the article, or part of the article, is found to be faulty or fraudulent, all coauthors may share responsibility.

Please complete in the table with the unique author identification number for each author (from the previous table) to describe each author's contribution the work.

(Criterion No.) contribution	Author number
1. Substantial contribution to the conception and design
1. Substantial contribution to the acquisition of data
1. Substantial contribution to the analysis and interpretation of data
2. Drafting the article
2. Critically revising the article
3. Approval of the final version submitted for publication

CHANGES TO AUTHORSHIP:

The author list of any submission should be decided upon and fixed BEFORE submission. Other than only in exceptional circumstances, the Journal does not allow addition or removal of author names after submission. A satisfactory explanation for any proposed changes in authorship will be required and ALL authors will be required to supply a new signed consent form that reflects the changes. We will also require a signed consent form from any person whose name has been removed indicating that they agree to the removal of their name from the author list. Because of the complexity of these rules we strongly advise authors to fix the author list before submission and not to attempt to make changes later.
