

NEW JOURNAL AT

CALL FOR PAPERS

Dear researchers and colleagues in Agronomy and Life Sciences,

The Editors and Publisher would like to kindly invite submissions to Hellenic Plant Protection Journal (HPPJ).

The HPPJ is the open access scientific publication of the Benaki Phytopathological Institute (BPI) published semi-annually, in January and July, since 2008. It is replacing the Annals of the Benaki Phytopathological Institute, which had been published since 1935.

HPPJ publishes original research articles, review papers, new records and short communications on all aspects of plant health and plant protection referring to plant pathogens, pests, weeds, pesticides and relevant environmental and safety issues. In addition, the topics of the journal extend to aspects related to pests of public health in agricultural and urban areas.

For further information please visit HPPJ online:

Articles can be submitted on-line at:
<http://www.degruyter.com/view/j/hppj>

Submitted papers are rigorously peer-reviewed and, following their acceptance, they are made available on-line. The journal does not have article processing fees or article submission charges.

We are looking forward to receiving your contributions to HPPJ.
